

Matrix

by Chloe Sullivan

I recently had a movie night with my dad and watched the Matrix, because it is one of his favorite movies and thought I would enjoy it. Thomas Anderson (neo) who is played by Keanu Reeves goes most of his life having a weird feeling that he can't explain. Soon a man named Morpheus gives him the decision to find out why he has that weird feeling or forget everything and go back to his life. Thomas decides to follow Morpheus, and he soon discovers his entire life has been a lie and that he has been under a simulation called the matrix, which is controlled by robots who are slowly taking over. Morpheus is sure Neo is the one to end this war but neo isn't too sure of himself after visiting the oracle. This movie has become one of my favorites I have already watched it a couple times and picked up on things I didn't notice before. In my opinion this was a really thought out movie.
